On 12 February, a US military patrol came under small arms fire near a GoS aligned National Defense Force (NDF) checkpoint in Kherbet Hamu Village in Qamishli Governorate. SDF and Global Coalition against Daesh forces arrested individuals in operations in Shiheil and Thiban towns. These operations took place a year after the two towns were re-captured by SDF forces.

Attacks again targeted oil infrastructure in the northeast this week. On 12 February, an IED detonated against an oil tanker passing on the Khurafi Road in al Hassakeh Governorate. This is the fifth attack in as many weeks against critical infrastructure in the northeast of Syria.
